Old King Cole is a madcap play full of knockabout fun and barmy happenings. The Old King Cole of the nursery rhyme hardly gets a look in, since he is ancient and rather dozy. The story is really about a couple of likeable villains, Faz and Twoo, straight out of The Beano, who do their best to wreck the wedding of Princess Daphne Cole to sporty Cyril the Fiddler. To say anything else would spoil the surprises in store!

BUT they will need lots of help. That means that you, the audience, will have to cheer the heroes and boo the villains as well as helping Twoo and Fazz with their cunning plots!

KEN CAMPBELL (1941 – 2008)

Kenneth Victor Campbell was an English writer, actor, director and comedian known for his work in experimental theatre. He has been called "a one-man dynamo of British theatre" and "one of the strangest people in Britain". He lived near Epping and is one of Geoff's heroes.

Incredibly helpful people without whom we really would have struggled:

Appliance Care, The Stow

for donating the washing machine for sacrifice;

The Edge, Kickboxing and Martial Arts Centre, The Stow

for donating the boxing gloves;

Ware Sea Cadets for lending ropes & tackle;

KSG Signs for supplying our splendid new banner;

Mark Hall & Netteswell Community Association

for their continued support in so many ways and Moot House Social Club for making the bar available.
